SECOND AMENDED COMPLAINT

07 CV 6733 (CM)

Jury Trial Demanded

Plaintiff, PATRICIA HARRIS LEE, by and through her attorneys, The Law Office of BORRELLI & ASSOCIATES, P.L.L.C., alleges, upon knowledge as to herself and her own actions and upon information and belief as to all other matters, as follows:

PRELIMINARY STATEMENT

This is an action for damages and injunctive relief brought against SONY BMG MUSIC ENTERTAINMENT, INC. ("Defendant" or "Sony") by Plaintiff, a 40 year old African-American female. During her employment, Plaintiff was the victim of, inter alia, discrimination because of her race and/or disability and/or retaliation. Plaintiff was singled out and attacked by her Caucasian supervisor, forced to work in a hostile environment subsequent to the attack, and had repeated complaints regarding both the attack and the hostile work environment she was working in post attack go ignored. The attack rendered Plaintiff disabled. Requests for a reasonable accommodation for her disability also went ignored. Because Plaintiff was unable to work in the hostile work environment, Plaintiff was eventually forced to go out on a leave of absence, i.e. constructively discharged. Sony then retaliated against Plaintiff by removing her from the payroll. The discrimination and/or retaliation also resulted in Plaintiff being denied short and long-term disability benefits and as well as initially being denied worker's compensation benefits.

FACTS

17. Sony hired Plaintiff as a Promotion Assistant on or about September 1991.
18. While working at Sony, Plaintiff’s performance was consistently satisfactory.
19. During the course of her employment, Plaintiff was never written up or disciplined formally, informally or otherwise.
20. As of 2005, Plaintiff assumed the position of Associate Director of Advertising Management in the Advertising and Marketing Services Department.
21. On or about March 30, 2006, a departmental meeting took place with Plaintiff, her immediate supervisor, Warnock-Morgan and management staff. Plaintiff was the only African American employee at said meeting. All other employees and staff at the meeting were Caucasian. Plaintiff was the only African American in the Sony Advertising Department at the time.

22. During this meeting, Warnock-Morgan became extremely hostile, angry and confrontational with members of the management staff.
23. Unprovoked, Warnock-Morgan yelled and cursed at the Plaintiff.
24. On or about March 31, 2006, Warnock-Morgan singled out Plaintiff because of her race and accused her of orchestrating the March 30, 2006 departmental meeting in Warnock-Morgan's absence (Warnock-Morgan was out of the office) in an effort to undermine her management decisions. This claim was unsubstantiated.
25. Warnock-Morgan then, unprovoked, physically attacked Plaintiff causing her to sustain back, neck and psychological injuries. Warnock-Morgan did not physically attack any Caucasian staff members.
26. As a result of the March 31, 2006 incident, Plaintiff immediately suffered extreme physical pain in her back and was severely emotionally distraught.
27. Shortly after the attack, Warnock-Morgan left a message on Plaintiff's answering machine asking for her forgiveness for the attack, asking her not to call the "people with the big nets” to come and get her and blaming the attack on steroid medications she was taking.

28. On or about April 3, 2006, Plaintiff reported the attack to Kathleen Kelly (“Kelly”), Caucasian and Dan Alcock (“Alcock”), Caucasian in the Human Resources Department. Plaintiff also notified Alcock and Kelly that she was suffering from physical and psychological pain as a result of the incident. She requested that she be separated from working with Warnock-Morgan as working with her would exacerbate her emotional and psychological condition.
29. Despite Plaintiff’s request, Warnock-Morgan retained her position of direct authority over Plaintiff.
30. On or about April 3, 2006, three (3) days following the attack on Plaintiff, Warnock-Morgan again singled out Plaintiff and accused her of orchestrating the March 30, 2006 departmental meeting in Warnock-Morgan’s absence. Warnock-Morgan did not single out any other members of her staff, all Caucasian.
31. Sony has a zero tolerance against violence in the workplace and such acts usually result in the immediate termination of the attacker.
32. Sony has a policy that prohibits the use of any controlled substance while on company premises. All employees are obligated to report any drug use, legal or illegal, that may prohibit job performance or fitness for duty. Violation of this policy may result in immediate termination or suspension without pay.

33. Despite the attack and violations of Sony policies, upon information and belief, no disciplinary action was taken against Warnock-Morgan.
34. After the attack, Plaintiff was forced to work in the same capacity as Associate Director under the direct supervision of Warnock-Morgan. Further, she was asked to cover Warnock-Morgan's duties for one (1) week while Warnock-Morgan took an unscheduled vacation.
35. From on or about April 4, 2006 to May 26, 2006, Plaintiff sent emails and made telephone calls to Kelly continually voicing her fears and her discomfort at working hand-in-hand on a daily basis with Warnock-Morgan. This attempted contact went unanswered. Plaintiff's calls and emails consistently requested an accommodation in the form of being separated from Warnock-Morgan and informed SONY that being forced to work under the supervision of Warnock-Morgan was exacerbating her mental condition.
36. At one point, Kelly told Plaintiff that she needed to endure through her work assignments with Warnock-Morgan, make herself more accessible to Warnock-Morgan and to make sure to report her comings and goings to Warnock-Morgan in addition to awaiting for the outcome of their investigation into the assault. Plaintiff was never informed of any resolution of the investigation.

37. Each day she came to work after the attack, Plaintiff feared for her safety and well-being. The lack of support from the Human Resource Department compounded Plaintiff's condition. The fact that she was the only African American also made her feel stranded.
38. On or about April 14, 2006, Plaintiff's doctor diagnosed her with physical and psychological injuries, including but not limited to: segmental dysfunction of the cervical and thoracic spine and post traumatic stress disorder.
39. These conditions began subsequent to and as a result of the attack and substantially limit Plaintiff's ability to work in any job and also substantially limited her ability to lift, bend, sleep, think, concentrate and interact with others.
40. That same day, on or about April 14, 2006, Plaintiff's treating physician Dr. Bassel personally spoke with Sony's Nurse Practitioner explaining Plaintiff's need for an accommodation for her disability, i.e. to be separated from Warnock-Morgan.
41. Sony did not accommodate Plaintiff nor engage in an interactive process regarding accommodating her.
42. On or about May 30, 2006, Plaintiff took a medical leave of absence on the advice of her physician.

43. Because of Plaintiff being forced to work under Warnock-Morgan after the attack and Sony's refusal to accommodate her or even address her concerns, Plaintiff became non-responsive to the medical treatments she was receiving.
44. Plaintiff was forced to go on leave because the emotional stress of working in a hostile work environment, along with being ignored by Sony and its Human Resources Department, and the fear of working with Warnock-Morgan was further exacerbating Plaintiff's mental and physical condition.
45. On or about June 6, 2006, Plaintiff learned that she had been removed from Sony's payroll, with the exception of vacation pay for fifteen (15) days in June. Plaintiff has not received any paychecks since this date.
46. On or about July 30, 2006, Plaintiff was diagnosed by her doctor with Reactive Anxiety Disorder and traumatic cervical, thoracic and lumbosacral pain syndrome with spasm.
47. These conditions exacerbated her existing conditions that were a result of the attack and further limited Plaintiff's ability to work in any job, lift, bend, sleep, think, concentrate and interact with others.
48. Because of Sony's objections, Plaintiff applied for short-term disability and was denied by Sony's insurance carrier. As per Sony's policy, based on her disability, Plaintiff was entitled to receive ninety percent (90%) of her salary while out on leave through her short-term disability policy.

49. Due to Sony's objections, Plaintiff's long-term disability has been denied. Plaintiff is currently in the process of exhausting her administrative appeals.
50. Due to Sony's objections, Plaintiff's worker's compensation benefits were initially denied. However, they were eventually awarded and in February 2007, Plaintiff was deemed to have a full disability by the New York State Worker's Compensation Board.
51. In addition, subsequent to being denied disability benefits in June 2006, Plaintiff did not receive a copy of the company's disability policy despite numerous requests until her previous counsel providing her with a copy in October 2007.
